Received an overall rating of 3.5 stars in the 3rd Nikkei SDGs Management Survey

Coca-Cola Bottlers Japan Holdings Inc. (Headquarters in Minato-ku, Tokyo; Representative Director & President Calin Dragan; hereafter “CCBJH”) has announced that the company received an overall rating of 3.5 stars, the same as last year, in the 3rd Nikkei SDGs Management Survey, which is a management survey aimed at assessing the surveyed companies based on their efforts to address social, economic and environmental issues through their businesses and how effectively these efforts have contributed to enhancing their corporate value.

The SDGs Management Survey is an annual survey that Nikkei Inc. began conducting starting in 2019 with the aim of assessing the surveyed companies based on their responses to questions on four management areas related to SDGs - strategy / economic value, social value, environmental value, and governance. The overall ratings are given on a five-star scale and are determined according to the deviation measurement of the scores received by the surveyed companies in each of these assessment areas.

While CCBJH received higher points than last year in every category, they also received the highest rating of S++ in the Social Value category for their efforts to provide opportunities for physical and mental health, especially during the COVID-19 pandemic, as well as for their promotion of diversity and respect for human rights.

CCBJH intends to continue creating shared value through its business activities that contribute to the well-being of the local communities it serves and the efforts to solve the various issues that lead to the achievement of SDGs.
